ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A preview method of color processing on input images is disclosed, which enabling users to select a block of a preview image in image processing software, to apply various image processing functions in a WYSIWYG way. The disclosed method saves time, and doesn't need repeated input or too many system resources.